Housekeeping is the one occupation with a staff that never runs out of things to do. We remove today's dirt to make room for tomorrow.

And removing dirt from hotel rooms has become increasingly complicated because we are now faced with new regulations, new products, and staffing, environmental, and budget considerations.

When I heard about the Lotus Pro, I visited the website immediately. I was please to see that it could helped not only to eliminate the dirt but eliminate those worries about regulations, the health and safely of our staff and guests, as well meet our environmental needs.

We have had our Lotus Pro unit for over a year now and as far as I am concened there is no other meathod I'd rather use for cleaning.

Tersano was able to keep up with my pace of a never ending chore list, and I will recommend this product too all my colleagues in the business.

Keep up the good work!
